"Imagine moving to Seattle with almost nothing. You finally find childcare but don't have more than a few changes of clothes for your baby. 'What will the childcare people think?' A family on my caseload was so worried about this and I was able to ease that stress with a bag full of clothes from WestSide Baby."

– Child Care Resources

Moving Forward

As I rushed to get my son to his school bus one morning last December, I noticed a strange van parked on my street. In it, a young woman struggled for 15 minutes to start the engine as her toddler daughter stared out the back window. The van finally roared to life, and off they drove.

This van still shows up occasionally. I wonder if they are living in that van, and I worry whether that little girl is safe, warm and dry. Situations like these motivate our staff, board, volunteers and supporters to keep doing this important work.

Last year, 25% more volunteers sorted, inspected and bundled essentials for children in need, and families donated 27% more diapers to help keep little bottoms dry. We served a record 24,000 kids in 2013, serving 4,000 more than ever before. You continue to grow with us in your support and willingness to share WestSide Baby with others. Thank you!

As our service area expands, we are partnering with new agencies to reach more families in need, and we are constantly working to improve and reach our goal of providing essentials to 26,000 King County children in 2014.

We strive to be ready for new opportunities to help. We were ready when the National Diaper Bank Network awarded us 1 million diapers in 2013 as part of Side by Side Northwest, a new collaborative project with Eastside Baby Corner. We were ready when the need for our items increased by 4,000 children – children like the little girl in the van.

We are not giving up on that mother. Your loads of crucial donations have made it to families in need, and we believe that by turning that key we can someday realize a world in which children have the things they need to grow up safe and strong. We are moving into important areas of need in 2014, and we are excited to see what new connections we will make, new partnerships we will create and new impact we will have.
